Huge Crowd Turns Out At Barbecue

1,000 Adults, Children
Dine on Chicken to Aid
'Project Windmill'

Close to 1,000 adults and children ate chicken at the Project Windmill barbecue Tuesday night at Civic Center, all agreeing on a unanimous verdict of "delicious."

Tuesday's weather was ideal for the event which was informal in nature. Hundreds of local citizens met A. J. de Koning, a Dutch windmill expert who was sent to Holland, Mich., by The Netherlands government to aid in the local program for obtaining an authentic windmill for Holland.

Many persons chatting with de Koning were interested in windmills, and others were recent immigrants speaking in the Dutch language anxious to talk over old times.

The Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce which sponsored the event was well pleased over results of the barbecue. It was estimated some 700 adults and 230 children were served. Advance sales amounted to 560 tickets. Another 370 were sold at the gate. Adults were served a half chicken, cole slaw, roll and butter, coffee and ice cream. Children were served a quarter chicken, baked beans, roll and butter, milk and ice cream.

Jaycees were assisted by Scout Leaders and Boy Scouts in serving and general patrolling.

A small windmill was placed on the grounds, courtesy of Del Van Tongeren. The small model was moved from the rear of Woolworth Store.

Elisabeth Clark, "Miss Holland" of 1962, also greeted townsfolk and distributed mimeographed copies on the background of "Project Windmill."

Carter Brown, chairman of the mayor's committee, introduced visitors to de Koning. The windmill expert who also is a well known architect in The Netherlands has been spending two weeks in Holland, and plans to leave Friday to return to The Netherlands. He is expected to give his impressions of the local project and make certain recommendations at a meeting of the committee tonight.

The barbecue was supervised by Richard Machiele, Ottawa county agricultural agent. Portable barbecue pits were set up earlier in the day, designed for roasting chicken 2½ to 3 feet above glowing charcoal.

Crews from the Street Department arranged for transporting picnic tables from the Holland Furnace picnic grounds. Peter Jacobse donated services in picking up garbage and arranging for large containers on the ground. The Kiwanis Club provided projector and screen for movies on windmills and land reclamation shown continuously inside Civic Center and Jay Vander Meulen provided his services as projector operator.

The informal picnic atmosphere provided a good setting for political aspirants. Although there were no speeches, there was considerable mingling and a lively distribution of campaign cards.

Machiele estimates the West Michigan Poultry Association which promotes such events as large barbecues has prepared some 10,000 barbecued chickens at large events this season. The next big event will be an outdoor barbecue in connection with the Hope College Village Square Aug. 3.

State Rep. Riemer Van Til and Walter G. Nakkula of Gladwin, chairman of the House Tourist Committee, sent regrets by telegram. They had had to cancel plans for attending the barbecue because of a special session Tuesday night on senate reapportionment.

Most of the people arrived early on the grounds, the greater share well before 6 p.m. A sizeable crowd lingered for the band concert at 7 p.m. played by the American Legion Band from the steps of Civic Center instead of from the band shell at Kollen Park.

Youth Charged as Adult In Breaking and Entering

GRAND HAVEN — Nelson Bakker, 18, of route 4, Holland, pleaded guilty at his arraignment in Ottawa County Circuit Court Wednesday to a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime.

He was released on his own recognizance. Sentence was deferred until Aug. 21.

Bakker had been waived out of Probate Court earlier today to face the breaking and entering charge as an adult. He was charged in connection with a May 13 break-in at the Wooden Shoe Restaurant on US-31 in Holland.

Zeeland Community Hospital lists the births of two girls Wednesday. They are Sheryl Lynn born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boss, route 3, Zeeland, and Jean Ann born to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Van Dussen of 410 West 21st St., Holland.

WINDMILL LOCATION — The large X in the center of the picture marks the best location for a proposed windmill for Holland as suggested by A. J. de Koning, windmill expert from the Netherlands. The 30-acre island is known as the Hyma property and is located in back of Riverview Park. Part of the 120-acre Kempker property, under consideration as part of the long-range development program is at right.

Score 7 Runs In Bottom Of 8th Inning

The Holland Stars American Legion baseball team broke loose for seven runs in the eighth inning of their zone championship playoff game at Valley Field in Grand Rapids today to take Ypsilanti and the Second Zone championship, 12-5.

The Stars bounced back from a defeat by Ypsilanti Wednesday to cop the life-and-death struggle for the crown today. The two teams were tied at 5 and 5 going into the eighth inning when the Holland team bombed Ypsilanti for their seven runs, including two home runs.

Holland smashed out 18 hits in their come-from-behind victory. They were on the short end of a 5-2 score going into their half of the seventh inning, and tied the score at 5-5 in the seventh.

The big seven-run eighth inning was highlighted by home runs off the bats of Jim De Neff and George Donze. Bruce Johns was the winning pitcher.

The victory at Grand Rapids today earns the Holland team a shot at the state American Legion baseball title. Holland was scheduled to meet the zone 1 champion in Detroit Aug. 6.

The loss to Ypsilanti Wednesday marked the first setback for the Stars in seven tournament games this year. They had won four straight in the district playoffs last week at Grand Haven and had taken their first two contests in the zone tourney.

The Holland team took the lead over Ypsilanti, 3-0, after scoring three runs in a big fourth inning. Ypsilanti came back with one run in the bottom of the fourth and then went ahead 4-3 in their half of the sixth inning.

The lead changed hands a second time when the Stars tallied twice in their seventh to go ahead 5-4, but Ypsilanti knotted the score again in the last of the seventh inning.

The winning run for Ypsilanti was pushed across in the eighth inning. Holland's last chance in the ninth inning to get back into the ball game ended on two pop flies and a strikeout.

In Holland's big fourth inning, Tom Essenburg led off and got on base on an error by the Ypsilanti shortstop. The next two batters struck out, and Tom Vitzthum doubled, scoring Essenburg.

The next Holland batter, Roger Kroodsmma, struck out but made it to first base when the catcher dropped the ball. Kroodsmma was followed by George Donze, who singled, scoring Vitzthum and Kroodsmma who had gone to second base on a passed ball.

In the seventh inning, Chuck De Witt walked with one out, Essenburg singled to left, sending De Witt to third, and took second base on an error by the left fielder, Jim De Neff doubled, scoring both De Witt and Essenburg.

The only other inning in which the Stars threatened was the fifth inning. Dan Bouma walked with two out and went to third on an error by the Ypsilanti catcher. Essenburg walked to put two men on base, but the inning ended on a ground ball to the pitcher.

Holland scored its five runs on a total of four hits. The Stars

Asked whether it hurts, Kaat, who was named to the American League All-Star team, said: "Only when I smile."

Kaat, despite the injury, was slated to work Saturday or Sunday but will be available for Monday's All-Star game in Chicago.

Three Holland witnesses Tuesday positively identified the woman in Plymouth, Ind., as the one who was in their stores when they believe the thefts took place. A recent photograph of her alleged partner was also identified. He has not yet been apprehended by authorities.

The woman and her accomplice are accused of taking $1,010 in rings from Williams Jewelers, 24 East Eighth St., and a $130 camera from Fox's Jewelry Store, 12 West Eighth St.

Search Lake Michigan For Child, 8

Grand Rapids Girl
Is Feared Drowned
At Grand Haven Park

GRAND HAVEN—Coast Guards and police, along with State Park life guards, continued to search today for the body of a Grand Rapids girl, eight years old, feared lost in a strong undertow at 2 p.m. at Grand Haven State Park Wednesday.

Mary Denise Hermann, of 27 Colfax NE, with Kim Drummond, also eight years old, of Grand Rapids, were bathing in Lake Michigan and suddenly a "big wave pushed us under," Kim told life guards.

Jo Ann Pirozzo, 15, Grand Rapids, pulled Kim out of the water and Kim told Jo Ann that the Hermann girl was drowning. Jo Ann did not see the missing girl at any time, she said.

There was an undertow at the time and the caution flag was flying. The possible drowning took place in the main swimming area, within the staked-out area.

Park officials said the water was only chest deep for the girls at the spot the girls went under. The Hermann girl's mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Hermann, was sitting on a blanket at the north end of the park, several hundred feet north of the possible tragedy, guards said.

State police sent two skin divers to the state park late Wednesday afternoon. U.S. Coast Guards, state police, Grand Haven police, life guards and Grand Haven firemen also searched for the body. One group of 50 men volunteered to form a human chain, walking hand-in-hand through the area where the girl was lost, but to no avail.

Searchers worked until 9 p.m. Wednesday and resumed at 7 a.m. today. Four state police skin divers, two from Grand Haven, one from Jonesville and another of Battle Creek are assisting. A choppy lake today impeded the search to some degree. A Coast Guard plane also arrived this morning.

The two eight-year-old girls, their mothers and three other children were staying in a trailer at the state park.

Grand Valley College Gets New Grant

A grant from the Thomas Erler Seidman Foundation to build and furnish a collegiate center on the Grand Valley State College campus was announced today by GVSC President James H. Zumberge.

In making the grant Frank E. Seidman, head of the foundation, stated, "We are convinced of the need for a four-year college in this area to enable more of our young people to receive the benefits of higher education. Our foundation is glad to have the opportunity of helping the community to establish it."

The collegiate center, designed by Meathe, Kessler and Associates, GVSC architects, will be located adjacent to the first two learning centers on the campus at the edge of the ravine bordering the plateau on which the first structures will be located. Its facade will use the same narrow concrete arches and fieldstone facing that are features of the learning centers.

Facilities on the first floor, almost completely glass-enclosed, will include a large student lounge with sunken fire place and two smaller group areas overlooking the ravine, and a faculty lounge, dining room and kitchen. A paved terrace will connect two wings of the building.

The lower level will contain game rooms, a book store, student activities offices, washrooms and mechanical equipment. Size of the building is 10,000 square feet overall; estimated cost, with furnishings, is $250,000.

Dr. Zumberge said that this latest capital contribution to the initial development of the campus brings the total of assets raised from private sources in this area to more than one and three-quarters million dollars.

Construction of the center will begin in the spring of 1963, with completion date about the time of opening of the college in the fall of 1963.

Two Single Automobile Accidents Reported

The Ottawa County Sheriff's department investigated two single-car accidents early Wednesday.

William Van Beek, Jr., 16, of 745 New Castle Dr., lost control of his car while going north on 152nd Ave. near Greenly St. at 7:15 a.m. The car went into the ditch. Van Beek was not injured.

A car driven by Egbert Vorenkamp, 45, of 2331 Lilac Ave., tore up the lawn and struck a tree at the Ottawa County Branch Offices on North River Ave. at 6:45 a.m. He lost control of his car when his brakes grabbed when he applied them to avoid hitting another car which pulled out in front of him, Deputies said.

Driver Cited Twice In Three-Car Accident

Al Luna, 19, of route 1, West Olive, was issued tickets for driving without an operator's license on his person and for driving without lights in a three-car accident at the intersection of Michigan Ave. and 26th St. Monday night.

Holland police said that Oscar G. Snyder, 44, of Grand Rapids, was turning left to go north on Michigan Ave. and failed to see Luna who was headed north on Michigan Ave. The Snyder auto struck Luna's car in the side, pushing it into another car occupied by Gordon H. Zuverink, 41, of 40 East 29th St. which was waiting at the east side of the intersection for the traffic to clear.

Airman Second Class Leonard M. Driesenga, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Driesenga of Hudsonville, arrived recently in Moron Air Force Base, Spain, for duty with a Strategic Air Command Unit.

Both Spots Are Located In Swamp

Mass Tulip Plantings,
Golf Course, Marina
Seen for the Future

Two locations for Holland's proposed windmill were recommended to the Project Windmill committee Wednesday night by A. J. de Koning, the Dutch windmill expert who has been spending two weeks in Holland studying sites.

Both sites are on the south side of Black River in the area between the North River Ave. bridge and the C and O railroad bridge.

The more desirable site, de Koning said, would be the 30-acre island fairly near River Ave., known as the Hyma property. The other site which lies directly east is the 120-acre Kempker property. Another small parcel in the immediate area is owned by C. De Waard. De Koning recommended that both sites be acquired for a long-range development program.

This property, he said, would meet specifications for a Dutch landscape setting. The ideal setting calls for a sweep of flat lowlands with no trees, buildings or other obstructions.

Other sites considered were properties north and east of the northside bridge, the city dump north of Sixth St. and Central Ave., and the lake frontage between Kollen Park and H. J. Heinz Co. None of these sites were of sufficient area for the project and all are obstructed from one or more directions by buildings, trees or hills. De Koning said it is necessary to have a long sweep of wind from the rear as well as on the windward side.

De Koning is in Chicago today with Howard Kammeraad, local architect, and Paul Elzinga, civil engineer, viewing structures in Chicago which have architectural significance. They will return to Holland tonight and de Koning will leave Friday afternoon on the return trip to the Netherlands.

Present plans call for constructing the foundation and lower section of the mill using local materials, possibly brick. The mill would be dismantled in the Netherlands and shipped by boat to Holland next spring when the Great Lakes shipping season opens. The Runyon line, a Dutch fleet, has expressed enthusiasm in the project and has tentatively offered to transport the mill free of charge. It is hoped the mill would be completed for the 1963 Tulip Time festival.

Carter Brown, chairman of Project Windmill, envisions mass tulip plantings and other flowers at the mill site, as well as long-time development of city parks, playgrounds, municipal golf course and marina, all within easy walking of the business section, and adjacent to present city-owned property suitable for parking.

No city funds have been spent to date on the project, since all local costs have been paid by contributions to the Greater Holland Community Foundation and designated for Project Windmill. Gifts may be sent to the foundation, all tax free.

Plans call for names of donors to be inscribed in the completed mill so that future generations can point with pride to the part their ancestors played in the project.

With super highways bypassing Michigan cities, attractions such as Project Windmill would bring motorists in to Holland to spend some time here and leave tourist dollars with the merchants.

The type of Dutch windmill under consideration is of high size—seven to 10 stories high. A mill of such proportions in a setting of sweeping lowlands without trees or other obstructions would command tourist attention unrivaled elsewhere.

De Koning's report to the committee was made at a dinner meeting at the Dutch Village with members guests of Harry Nelis. Attending were Mrs. F. W. Stanton, Mrs. A. Bondy Gronberg, Mayor Nelson Bosman, Jay H. Potter, William H. Vande Water, Henry S. Maentz, Roger Stroh, Harry and Fred Nelis, James Brower, Paul Elzinga, Seymour Padnos, Del Van Tongeren, W. A. Butler, Jacob De Graaf and Herb Holt.

The Dutch menu included such dishes as pea soup, Dutch rye bread, apple sauce, red cabbage, metworst, potatoes, Dutch apple strudel with ice cream and coffee.

Development Unit Organized for Holland

Incorporation of a Greater Holland Economic Development Corporation for the purpose of encouraging Holland's industrial growth has been completed, according to an announcement by Jay H. Petter, President of Holland's Chamber of Commerce.

Officers are Clarence Jalving, president; Jay H. Petter, first vice president; George Heeringa, second vice president; Henry Steffens, treasurer; William H. Vande Water, secretary. In addition to the officers, directors are Henry Maentz, Ab Martin, Jack Plewes, Stuart Padnos and Nelson Bosman.

The new development corporation is an outgrowth of the study given to Holland's industrial development by the Planning and Economic Development Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce. This committee, formed in 1958, and currently chaired by Clarence Jalving, has been actively engaged in surveying the methods used by other communities in attracting new industry, and in collaborating with the Economic Development Commission of the State of Michigan.

With this background of information, coupled with the recommendations contained in the Fantus report, the committee sensed the need for a separate legally constituted agency authorized to enter into property purchasing, financial assistance and other aids to industry. This deal-making authority is now vested in the development corporation, thereby providing the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Holland with a practical means of implementing the efforts aimed at a desirable industrial growth.

The capital structure of the newly organized development corporation calls for participation on a share-holding basis. Stock will be sold in the corporation at $50 a share as occasion arises, for financial need. The initial $1,000 required for incorporation has been subscribed by members of the Chamber's Planning and Economic Development Committee. The committee assigned to the drafting of the organization plan comprised Stuart Padnos, Ab Martin and Marvin Lindeman, with Peter Boter as legal counsel.

In commenting on the work that has been done in bringing the development corporation to a reality, Petter said that this project has been uppermost in his activities as Chamber president.

"The entire community is vitally interested in having Holland's industrial growth continue at the same high level set by our recent industrial development," Petter remarked, "and those who have been instrumental in shaping up this new agency are to be commended for the fine contribution they have made. We now have the operating equipment for further progress, and I am sure that the citizens of Holland will deem it a privilege to become part of it through making the necessary investment in what has been set up for them."

The Chamber of Commerce office will serve as the office for the Economic Development Corporation.

A tailored bow of silk organza released an elbow-length veil of imported illusion and she carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

TAXES AND MORE TAXES

With more people in any number of cities and rural communities there are bound to be problems that cost more and more money. Many of the tax bills that are brought forth by the people in office are bound to find opposition from many of the people.

One tax proposal was tried and did not make the grade was the levy of 20 per cent withholding tax against income from dividends.

There were several objections and perhaps the cause here was double taxation. The principal burden would no doubt have fallen on millions of people in low income brackets.

There are more people today that live longer and many of them depend on their dividends for a part of their living. Some of these people allow their dividends to accumulate so that they will earn more dollars.

There are also people who accumulate their dividends and allow them to earn interest for funds that they are building to educate their children. Prepaying taxes by deducting the tax from dividends as they are earned was also a part of the problem.

We are fully in accord that people should pay all of their taxes. If it is fair for one then everyone should be paying the same. There are, however, so many laws and loop holes within the law that it is hard to understand some of the tax laws.

With all of the people who are employed by government and the great amount of money that is being spent for all kinds of new automatic equipment, collecting taxes has become a costly business at any rate.

What we need to do is to try and find out how we can get more for the tax dollar that we are now paying. This sounds easy, but did you ever stop and try to figure out just how we are going to accomplish more conservative government? There is work for everyone.

Just look at the problem we have here in our own state right at the moment. We are trying to educate some of the countries around us to institute tax reform. We are trying to tell them that the income tax is the only device adequate to help raise money so that many improvements can be made in their education, which will help them with their many other problems and thereby help feed their people and give them better living conditions. There is much work to be done.

Lesson

Sunday, July 29
Jeremiah Sees Hope
Beyond Tragedy
Jeremiah 30:18-19; 31:31-34;
Jeremiah 33:14-16
By C. P. Dame

This lesson is the last of the three on Jeremiah, one of the greatest of Israel's prophets and a real great man. Although Jeremiah is called the "Weeping Prophet" that term does not do him justice for his book reveals that he was pessimistic about his people but optimistic about God. Our lesson shows that he could be hopeful in dark days. This many people cannot do. Only people who are sure of God can be hopeful in all manner of life's circumstances.

I. It is fine to believe that better days are coming. Judah had been carried into captivity as Jeremiah predicted. However, God said to them, "I will not make a full end of you." He had plans for His people. "Behold I will bring again the captivity of Jacob's tents," Jeremiah predicted both the captivity and the return and both happened.

Jerusalem, which had become a city of ruins, would be rebuilt. The ten tribes had been carried into captivity by Assyria and has been lost among the people where they had been placed. The two tribes would return and build a new temple and city and nation and become a thankful people and enjoy large families and be merry. Jeremiah foretold all of this because he believed that God was "the hope of Israel." Only a faith in God gives hope.

II. The new covenant is better. Our lesson text speaks of the new covenant. God made a covenant, that is an agreement with Israel, that He would be Israel's God and Israel would be His people and serve and worship Him only. God kept His promise but Israel did not and often turned away from Him and worshipped other gods. God was like a faithful husband, but Israel was like a wandering wife.

Jeremiah speaks of God making a new covenant with His people—the New Testament Covenant of Grace. "After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts" — it will be marked by inwardness. This new covenant will take in the individual — it will not be national for "all shall know Me."

And besides, it will bring the boon of forgiveness, "for their sins I will remember no more." Obedience will be shown not from a sense of duty but it will come from a renewed heart prompted by love. Christians live in the day of the New Covenant. They show it when they delight to please God by service and obedience.

III. Jesus is called "the Branch of Righteousness" by the prophet. In the Bible, there are 90 different names ascribed to Jesus. The troubles that befell Judah had come for the most part from wicked rulers who had misled the nation. The prophet, speaking for God, told of the coming of the Lord who would "execute judgment and righteousness in the land."

In the time to come a Sovereign would appear who would live up to the high ideals and principles required by the position He holds. We today can be people with hope because we believe in the everlasting kingdom of God, headed by the Lord Jesus. When people have great beliefs they are sure to have great hopes. In a pessimistic world let us radiate the hope that springs from faith in God.

CASTLE TOWER—The ivy covered brick tower dates back to the 1880's and is the oldest building in Castle Park. The tower, now the nucleus of a peaceful resort hotel, was once a landmark for sailors and a subject for many of their legends and stories. Built as a private home, the tower later became a summer camp. It has been a resort under the management of the Carter Brown family for nearly 50 years, and a whole summer community has grown up around it. (Sentinel photo)

Castle Only Survivor Of Gilded Resort Era

Around the turn of the century, Holland was the site of four luxury resort hotels and drew a thriving tourist trade from all over the Middle West. Now only one of these hotels, the Castle, is left.

Under the direction of Carter and Austin Brown it has continued to grow and to attract people from many states. But the resort business has changed, and the Castle, over the years, has changed too.

The original building, about half the size of the present brick section, was built high on a sand dune overlooking Lake Michigan, 7 miles south of Holland. The owner was a Chicagoan of German origin and feudal inclinations. Stories grew up that he built the tower to keep his wife and daughter hidden away, safe from the wives of the world outside.

Sailors on the old Lake Michigan lumber schooners used to say that the daughter had fallen in love with a local Dutch boy, and that the father had locked her in the tower to prevent them from running away. She died in the tower, they said, of a broken heart. So the story of the Castle begins.

In the early 1890's the Castle and its grounds were bought by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Parr of Chicago. The Parris ran a prep school for some of the eastern colleges, and they thought that the Castle would make a good summer camp for the boys and girls of their school.

It was while the place was a summer camp that it acquired a whole flock of ghosts in addition to the one it had already.

The girl students used to stay on one floor of the old building, the boys on another.

One moonlight night, the girls persuaded the caretaker to take a lantern up on the roof and wake the boys by tapping the lantern against their windows. Meanwhile the girls were down on the lawn dressed in sheets and acting very ghostly.

The boys were understandably startled. It wasn't until the performance was repeated that they discovered what it was. A new legend was in the making.

At that time the area looked quite different from the way it does now. The lumbering industry had cleared all the pines from the dunes and the Castle was clearly visible from the shore, a landmark for the sailors whose schooners carried the lumber from the Holland beaches to Chicago.

By 1893 families of boys, coming over to visit their sons, had fallen in love with the beauty of the spot and were beginning to build their own cottages there.

Soon the Parris gave up the school completely, moved to Holland, and began to turn the Castle into a real resort. Families of the boys who had gone there to camp returned there to a resort holiday. Many built their own summer homes there. Summers at the Castle became a family tradition.

Two of the youngsters who grew up in this tradition, Carter and Marion Brown, became so attached to the Castle that they determined they would own it themselves. In 1917, after their marriage, that is exactly what happened.

The Castle has been in the Brown family ever since. Today it is under the direction of their sons, Carter and Austin.

Over the years the area has grown and developed. The once bare hills are again covered with pines and shrubs. Now no longer visible from the lake, the Castle has ceased to be a landmark for sailors.

Today there are 70 privately owned cottages on the Castle grounds. The size of the original turreted brick building has been doubled, and in 1937 Plantation House was built as a hotel annex. Today the hotel has accommodations for 120 guests.

The old Ebenezer Church barn has been turned into a hotel cottage. The church had built it to hold the wagons of churchgoing farmers in the summer and their sleighs in the winter. When the automobile removed the need for such a barn, it was dismantled and rebuilt on the Castle property.

The Castle has a tradition of providing recreation for every member of the family. Six play counselors direct the children's activities. Tennis instruction on every level is under the direction of pro Harry (Cap) Leighton.

Scotty Holford is in charge of the riding program. Lessons are given in riding and jumping. This year's Junior Horse Show will be held Saturday, July 28. The 40th annual Senior Horse Show will be on Wednesday, August 29.

Luncheon is served to hotel guests every day on the patio on the dunes, and there is dancing under the stars every Tuesday and Saturday evening.

Boating, swimming and water skiing are an important part of the summer program.

The season at the Castle is more active than ever. Of the four old resorts, it is the only one to survive.

The Ottawa Beach Hotel, on the site of the present state park, was built in 1887 and destroyed by fire in 1923.

The Macatawa Hotel was built in 1895. Train excursions and side-wheel steamers used to come from Chicago twice daily in its heyday. It was the setting for the first three National Water Ski Tournaments. It survived two disastrous fires only to be torn down in 1956.

The Waukoo Inn was built in 1906 by Judge John C. Everett. It was torn down and the property subdivided in 1960.

The season at the Castle is in full swing.

Police Investigating Service Station Theft

Holland Police are investigating a report from the Wooden Shoe service station just off the US-31 bypass and 16th S. intersection that an estimated $209 in bills was taken from their cash register sometime early Sunday morning.

The gas station reported that the money was first discovered missing by the attendant who had been on duty all night as he opened the drawer to make change for a customer.

The attendant and another person who had been staying at the station all night told police they must have been sleeping when someone took the money.

Top Officials Honor Hoffman

ALLEGAN — "I haven't seen him smile so much in a long time," the elderly woman said.

She was Mrs. Clare Hoffman, wife of Michigan's elder statesman.

Her husband had just been honored at an ox-roast rally by Democrats and Republicans alike.

The veteran Republican congressman, despite infirmities of age, seemed to have the time of his life as he plunged, if only briefly, back into the political wars Saturday.

His age, 86, and recurring strokes, have done nothing to dull the sharp wit for which he was famous.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., told Hoffman she brought to him the best wishes of his colleagues in Washington, even the Democrats. Hoffman has been absent from the nation's capital since November.

"I bring you the greetings of all the Democrats in Congress," Mrs. Griffiths said.

"Well if they can do that they can swallow anything," Hoffman replied.

The main tribute to the aging Hoffman was delivered by Rep. August Johansen, R-Mich. But along with Mrs. Griffiths, a surprise visitor at the festivities was Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who also eulogized the senior congressman.

Hope Gets $2,000 Grant For Field of Chemistry

The S. C. Johnson & Company of Racine, Wis., has presented Hope College with a grant of $2,000, it was announced Monday by Dr. Gerrit Van Zyl, chairman of the chemistry department. The grant will be used to provide scholarships in the fields of chemistry and chemical engineering to Hope College students.

This grant is similar to one presented by the Johnson Wax Fund to Hope College two years ago.

man. Gross and Hoffman for years made up what was jokingly known as "the minority's minority." Throughout their long terms, they zealously guarded the public purse and protested spending of almost any nature.

Other Washington visitors were Reps. George Meader, Robert Griffin, Victor Knox and Elford Cederberg.

Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney addressed the rally.

Hoffman grudgingly admitted Romney was "all right," after hearing the former American Motors Corp. president speak.

But before Romney earned the praise, he was subjected to another example of Hoffman's caustic approach.

Rep. Cederberg said jokingly, "Clare, I'm surprised to see you boosting Romney."

"The only boost he'd get from me is over the fence," Hoffman snapped.

After hearing Romney, Hoffman said, "He talks all right. The Michigan Supreme Court has got us in an awful mess and we need a good governor and the legislature to get us out. I'll vote for him, yes."

Mrs. Griffiths had another word. "I am sure he was a great congressman. I am sure he and Mr. Gross have saved this country billions of dollars."

Newcomers Club Has Party, Lunch

A carnival decor prevailed at the Newcomers Club luncheon on meeting last Wednesday at the American Legion Memorial Park Club with 40 women attending.

A make-believe booth over the fireplace with balloons and darts depicted a carnival scene complete with stuffed animals as prizes. Tallies were in the form of tigers.

Mrs. Edmund Jonoski presided at the business meeting and introduced prospective members, Mrs. James Grustick, Findlay, Ohio; Mrs. Rudy Foytik, Monroe; Mrs. Ronald Hutson, Temperance; Mrs. Bernard Koppenhoffer, Defiance, Ohio; Mrs. Nell Spuer was present as a guest.

Mrs. Carroll Stamm, decorations chairman, was assisted by Mrs. William Turpin and Mrs. Albert Petzold. Cards were played and prizes awarded.

The Rev. Clarence J. Denekas officiated at the double ring rites for the daughter of Theodore Joostberns of Hamilton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Myers of Coloma.

As appropriate wedding music was being played by Miss Mary Ann Lugten the wedding party assembled before an altar decked with seven-branch candelabra, palms and altar bouquets of white gladioli and mixed colors of majestic daisies.

The soloist, Terri Zylman sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

For his best man the groom chose his brother, Robert Myers of Benton Harbor and to seat the guests he selected Paul Philstrand of Chicago and William Shattuck of Covert.

The bride, carrying a white lace Bible topped with a white orchid from which fell ivy streamers, was given in marriage by her father. Her floor-length gown of silk organza was fashioned with a princess panel extending from the square neckline which was bordered with re-embroidered Alencon lace. At the back a tailored peplum and bow topped a full godet which ended in a chapel train. The elbow-length veil fell from a capette of lace edged with organza.

The attendants' gowns were ballarina length made of mint green, dotted in leaf green and accented by velvet bows. Their circular veils were attached to matching pillbox hats and they carried crescent bouquets of white, yellow and pink majestic daisies.

The lovely embroidery traced a floral and ribbon pattern in a gently scalloped horizontal fashion around the collar, bodice and double-tiered bouffant skirt of toe-touching length which blended to a brief sweep. Three organza flowers topped her bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

'Emperor's New Clothes' Delights First Nighters

A small but enthusiastic audience of oldsters and youngsters loudly applauded the first performance of the children's play, "The Emperor's New Clothes," in the Woman's Literary Club Thursday night, produced by Holland Community Theatre.

Other performances were held Friday at 7 p.m. and four times on Saturday at 10 a.m. and 1, 4 and 7 p.m.

Directed by Diane Noe, the play was a well rounded production with lots of color and action, oriental costumes and showy props—things which delight children.

Donald Cranmer as the emperor had a great time strolling around in his imaginary clothes, aided and abetted by Gerald Hagans and Larry Haverkamp as the two lively adventurers whose vivid imaginations and athletic prowess kept plot and stage action in a dither.

Mary Slag was effective as the pretty but not-so-bright empress whose fainting spell in the presence of the two adventurers provided lots of action and some philosophical patter. Don Kardux was the wicked and dastardly emperor's minister who got his just deserts in the last act, and Gerald Kruff appeared as the powerful general. Emily Shaffer as a poor weaver got into some active fighting scenes and drew sympathetic concern from children in her third-act appearance showing marks of a cruel beating.

Others in the cast were Dianna Kaniff, Judy Garlock, Steve Penna, Allison Shaffer, Nancy Klopfenstein, Mark Kaniff, Roxanne Spaek, Mrs. Harold Tregloan, and Melodie Greenwood.

Although excellent fare for children, "The Emperor's New Clothes" is full of subtleties and philosophical tidbits fully appreciated by adults. Much of this carries an oriental flavor, accented by the poetic talents of the two adventurers.

Hope Included In Cooperative Recruit Program

Hope College will be one of 37 Midwestern colleges and universities participating in a cooperative program to recruit and prepare able students for careers as college teachers.

The program will be supported by a $975,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to the University of Chicago which will administer the program designed to organize an experimental three-year Master of Arts program for prospective college teachers.

Under the University of Chicago program, the curriculum for each subject will be developed by representatives from the liberal-arts colleges working with the university. Following the senior year, students will transfer to the university to complete graduate work and gain experience in teaching under supervision.

In each of three years, the University will provide full-tuition scholarships for 50 students coming to Chicago for the third year of the program—a total of 150 scholarships.

The Foundation's grant will be used over a five-year period primarily to release faculty members at the university and cooperating colleges from their regular classroom duties to plan curricula, prepare examinations, and counsel students.

"Many outstanding students are discouraged from college teaching because the program of studies and length of time required for a Ph.D. are so indefinite," said Clarence D. Faust, vice president of the foundation. "The experimental three-year M.A. projects, now gaining momentum throughout the nation, provide the articulation graduate programs need and help to alleviate the serious shortage of college teachers."

The Ford Foundation also announced a grant of $2 million to support a major reorganization of the American Council on Education. The Council is the principal coordinating agency for higher education in the United States; its membership includes 1,077 colleges and universities and 145 national and regional associations.

County Fair Board Holds Last Meeting

The fourth annual Ottawa County Fair, already bursting at the seams, is in its final stages of expansion and preparation for opening day July 31.

The Fair Board met at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the fair office and reported on final preparations. Exhibits are filled to capacity and facilities are being expanded to handle overflow exhibits in some cases.

Exhibition department heads reported at the meeting that the livestock display, including cattle from all over Michigan, is filled to capacity. Officials said the display would be the finest in the state.

Sheep and swine exhibits are filled to capacity. Additional pens are being constructed to handle the overflow of exhibits.

Fair officials this year have doubled the size of the poultry display. The number of entries has filled the expanded facilities and several potential entries have been turned away.

Rabbit entries have been filled to capacity, officials said, and stall reservations for the four days of harness racing at the fair were reported as good. These exhibits will be shown, along with crop, vegetable and pine tree exhibits, in the Exhibition Hall.

The Monday night report meeting was the board's final meeting before the fair.

Fair headlines include a Tuesday night appearance by Brenda Lee, popular recording star, and the appearance Wednesday night of the Michigan Dairy Princess.

The fair will feature harness racing Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon. Championship motorcycle races will be held Saturday night.

Vandals Break Windows By Throwing Golf Balls

Vandals broke two windows in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Weener at 3704 112th Ave. late Monday night by throwing golf balls through them.

Weener told Ottawa County deputies that he and his wife were awakened by the noise of shattering glass. He said when he went downstairs to investigate he saw an old car drive away from the front of his house.

A front window in his living room and an upstairs window were both broken by golf balls.

New Van Meer Petitions Filed

GRAND HAVEN — New petitions seeking to incorporate a 7½-square mile area of Holland Township into a city to be called "Van Meer" were filed today with County Clerk Harris Nijsma.

The new petitions were much the same as those filed July 18 but called for a slight correction in the map — described as a technicality which did not affect proposed boundaries in any way.

Signatures on the new petitions were said to be identical with the names affixed to the original petitions.

The technicality dealt specifically with describing land excluded from the proposed city.

The 7½-square mile area spans the township for six miles from the west boundary to the east, running along the west city limits of Zeeland. The area also includes Federal school district except for the segment west of the C and O Allegan tracks which takes in Pilgrim Home Cemetery No. 1, Smalenburg Park and the Hope College athletic grounds.

An invitation is also extended to women of other denominations.

Present at Monday's meeting were the Mesdames J. A. Veldman, classical committee secretary, Gordon Van Eenennaam, Irwin Brink and Richard Pouws. Unable to attend was Mrs. Alverne Kapenga.

The Marcos de Niza rock in South Mountain Park, in Arizona's Valley of the Sun, is believed to be one of the oldest evidences of Spanish exploration in the southwest. It bears an inscription with the date 1539.
